

Alberta-North

2009-2010 Annual Report

Section 4 - Closing Comments

In the sixteen years since inception, Alberta-North has evolved into a front-line distance education learner and community support system across the north that facilitates post-secondary access and academic success. The extension of Alberta-North's resources and services into the Northwest Territories and along the Edmonton corridor is testimony to Alberta-North's commitment to provide community-based, personalized, face-to-face services for distance education learners – regardless of the post-secondary institution in which the learner is enrolled. In recent years Alberta-North has identified that the growing options of on-line credentials available to residents of the north is placing a growing demand on the resources and services of Alberta-North. In consultation with its post-secondary members and stakeholders, Alberta-North will be assessing this growing “back door” usage of Community Access Point resources and services as it works towards the goals articulated in its 2010-2013 Business Plan.

In 2010-2011 Alberta-North looks forward to being an active participant in the continued implementation of Advanced Education and Technology's goal of a seamless, collaborative distance education system on behalf of all learners.

“The Alberta-North initiative was created out of necessity – the need to address multiple and severe barriers encountered by northern residents and communities to accessing post-secondary education.”
